

Anthony Miller has served as a neutral in public and private sector labor relations since 1986. He is currently a member of both the Los Angeles County Employee Relations Commission and the City of Los Angeles Employee Relations Board, where he is the Vice Chair. Prior to becoming a member of the Commission and the Board, he served as a hearing officer for both the Commission and the Board. In addition, he arbitrates for many prominent unions and employers throughout California and the Southwest.

Anthony Miller is also a Professor of Law at Pepperdine University School of Law where he has taught since 1977. He has taught Labor Law, Public Sector Labor Law, Torts, Remedies, Constitutional Law-Individual Rights, International Commercial Arbitration, and Arbitration Practice. He has also taught as a Visiting Adjunct Professor at UCLA and at Jones School of Law. As a member of the State Bar of California, he has been involved in several important appellate cases and appeared before the California Supreme Court.

Finally, he has administrative experience as the former Associate Dean of Pepperdine Law School and as the Director of the Law School's London Program.